

SATURDAY EVENING, NOV. 24, 1906.

PAUL STENSLAND'S bitter wall from the Joliet, Illinois, penitentiary should serve as a warning to all in this world who now with no thought concerning the inevitable crop. This man a short time ago was reveling in wealth and luxury. Today he is known simply as a number, clothed in stripes, and subject to the most rigid discipline. With tears in his eyes the convicted wrecker of the Milwaukee Avenue State Bank, in Chicago, yesterday uttered the following words in the debtors' department of the county jail:

"I am in hell. Every day, every hour, every minute of my life I am in hell. Freedom among the wild Moors and Arabs of Morocco, in the burning, blinding sun of Devil's Island, or on the lonely reefs of Alexander Selkirk's island, is a paradise compared to a convict's life in the Joliet penitentiary. To a man of my temperament, hell can be no worse than the penitentiary. No spiritual state could be so susceptible to the torture, the awful mental anguish, that I have endured since I was brought back from Morocco and entered Joliet. The petty rules of the institution are almost unendurable, and yet I realize that such rules must be laid down and enforced. But think of it: I was a man who had been a 'boss' since I was 19 years old. All my life there were subordinates to do my bidding. Now, I am compelled to march in a line, to stand at a table until a signal is given that I may sit down. Sit down to what? To food that it is impossible to eat; food that I would not give to my dog or cat."

The giant form of the old Norwegian banker was convulsed with sobs as he told of his life in prison, to which he expects to return in a few weeks, as soon as he has testified against Walter Frantz and the others under indictment, charged with having taken part in the million-dollar looting of the institution which he founded.

MR. WILLIAM J. BRYAN in the Commonwealth, under the head "Vigilance the Price of Liberty," among other things says:

"There are many democrats who are voting the ticket whose prominence in the party would be a detriment to the party. If these men are really sincere in their desire to help the party they will not force themselves into the foreground, and if they try to force themselves into the foreground the party ought to thwart their purpose."

Mr. Bryan doubtless means well, but if every man in the party at present, including those he has apparently not forgiven for straying from the fold ten years ago, is to be subject to discipline, the object of harmonizing the various elements of the party will be thwarted at once.

REV. E. L. HUNT, now of Greenpoint, N. Y., who is named as co-respondent in the action for absolute divorce brought in Washington by Charles C. Basset, of the government geological survey bureau, against his wife, Fannie Nice Basset, a daughter of former Senator Rice, of Arkansas, says he is confident that the courts will vindicate him fully as to his relations with Mrs. Basset and refuse her husband's petition for divorce. His impudence equals his immorality. The "preacher" openly traveled about the country with Mrs. Basset, representing her to be his sister and was publicly guilty of other indiscretions which should condemn him in the eyes of all honest men and women.

BRIE. GEN. C. H. NOBLE, retired, at Seattle, says that the President, then Col. Roosevelt, did not lead the main charge up San Juan Hill, that he (Noble) did and that there would be considerable dissension among the people of the United States if the facts of that campaign were known. Some of the facts are known and one of them is that but for the regiment of colored cavalrymen which came to the rescue just in the nick of time the "rough riders" would have been swept off the face of the earth by the Spaniards.

A FISH TRUST with $5,000,000 capital is in process of organization in Boston. The announced object of the organization is to standardize the price of fish and increase prices and profits. The activity of the federal government in dealing with the old trust has not discouraged the formation of new ones. It is a confirmed habit, says the Philadelphia Record, and encouraged by tariff protection.

REV. ALGERNON SIDNEY CRAPPEY has decided to resign from the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal Church. He should have done this when he first took issue with the doctrines of the church with which he has been so long connected, and thus have prevented all the discussion which has been going on relative to his case for the past year or two.

It has been discovered that a change of 4,000 votes in the recent election would have served to wipe out the republican majority in the lower house of Congress. Only by this narrow margin was the administration sustained, notwithstanding the confessed popularity of its chief.

Through the bid of the American Banknote Company was $17,000 a year cheaper. Postmaster-General Cortelyou awarded the contract for printing postage stamps to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

From Washington.

(Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.)

Washington, Nov. 23.

The Washington navy yard at 5:30 a. m. picked up a very indistinct and apparently garbled wireless message from the battleship Louisiana upon which President and Mrs. Roosevelt are returning home from the Isthmus. All that could be made out with certainty was that the vessel was at that time 520 miles north of San Juan, Porto Rico.

Experiments probably will be made within the next year in printing across the face of all postage stamps the name of the city in which they are sold. This work will be done in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing to which the contract for stamps was let on Friday. It is believed that this will give a more thorough check on sales and prevent the padding that is frequently done in some offices. Then in the case of robberies in postoffices where stamps in large quantities are stolen it will furnish a clue to the inspectors.

Charges in current publications that Commissioner of the General Land Office Richard has acted improperly in connection with the issuing of patents for coal lands to railroad companies have prompted Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock to request an explanation from the Commissioner. The latter informed the Secretary that he will make answer in writing. Asked today when he would submit his explanation, Governor Richard replied: "I am like the quaker. I never act until the Spirit moves me."

Many employees of the Interior Department are anxious to know what is to become of them when James R. Garfield succeeds Ethan Allen Hitchcock as Secretary next March. If reports are true there will be a general cleaning out, the land office being the most seriously affected.

Leopold J. H. Herwig, of this city, is among those designated by acting Secretary of the Navy Newberry to take the examination at the Washington navy yard beginning January 15, for appointment to fill the seven vacancies in the list of second lieutenants of the Marine Corps.

Virginia Horses.

Colonel Neville, with Welbourne, has won several good stakes during the week at Pimlico and at Benning. Dion Kerr, with Follow On, has been landing a chase purse occasionally. Courtland Smith, with Oleroso and others of his stable, has won some good, easy money. In Oleroso Mr. Smith has a most promising fencer. The Hastings horse is a fast runner.

The Portner Brothers, of Manassas—Alvin, Oscar and Paul—have decided to embark in racing with a stable of 2-year-olds and Gas Engeline as trainer. The Messrs. Portner are young gentlemen of considerable wealth, and they have been racing these four or five years. But they never seriously thought of getting a racing stable until this fall. The nucleus of the establishment with which they will take the field next spring will be three home-bred 2-year-olds by Dolce Par Niente, a stallion they have had in Virginia several years. They are good looking yearlings, and Engeline, who knows something of yearlings, predicts that they will make their mark next season.

Burke's injured are not serious.

Rev. Algernon Sidney Crapsey has decided to resign from the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Dr. Crapsey has been pastor of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Rochester, N. Y., for twenty-eight years, and is one of the ablest, canonically-resident Episcopal clergymen of the diocese of Western New York. His voluntary resignation at this stage of the heresy proceedings obviates the necessity of Bishop Walker passing sentence of suspension on him.

The administration will not engage in the project of securing Chinese coolies to build the Panama canal. This decision is one result of the visit of President Roosevelt to the canal zone, and is a part of the change in policy which will be inaugurated by officials in charge of canal administration. It has been developed in connection with the cable announcement from the isthmus that the first consignment of 1,000 Spaniards had arrived, and they were being distributed along the canal route.

The body of Rev. John Sanford, twenty-six years old, pastor of the Methodist church at Salisbury Court, ten miles from Little Falls, N. Y., was found hanging in the parsonage at that place by trustees of the church last night. The minister had been missing since Tuesday. He had lived alone in the parsonage and fearing that he was ill, the trustees broke open a door. The body was suspended from a stairway. It is believed that temporary insanity was the cause of the suicide.

Miss Ola Kelly, aged 23, was murdered Thursday night at her home in Hol-lows, Mich., a small village near Adrian, by Joseph Ehlich, of Adrian, 29 years old, a rejected suitor. Miss Kelly's mother, returning from a neighbor's, stumbled over her daughter's body. Her throat had been cut apparently with a pair of scissors, which were left sticking in the young woman's heart. Ehlich said he had been paying attention to the girl and a few days ago she wrote him that she did not care to receive his attentions longer. He went to talk the matter over, and finding her unyielding, he killed her.

On all four of the charges Justice Goldman committed him for the action of the grand jury, fixing the bail in the four cases at $5,000. In default of bail, Prigge was sent to jail.

The Cable-Stevenson Wedding. Philadelphia, Nov. 24.—At noon, today, in old Christ Church, George W. Cable, the distinguished southern author, was married to Miss Eva C. Stevenson, of Lexington, Ky., who has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. William Furness Jenks, 920 Clinton street. The wedding of Mr. Cable and Miss Stevenson, came in the nature of a surprise to their many friends throughout the southland. Miss Stevenson is a daughter of former Congressman Job Stevenson, of Ohio, who removed to Lexington, Ky., a few years ago. Then Miss Stevenson became a leader in the social and literary set and it was while there giving a reading that Cable met the woman whose charms he fell a willing victim to.

Presidents of seven State universities and the heads of all the Virginia colleges are in attendance.

In the opening address of the conference President Alderman stated that an enormous growth in sympathetic and intelligent understanding of what the high school means has taken place in the South in the last two years.

The feature of yesterday's session was the paper by Elmer E. Brown, United States commissioner of education, on "What Definite Ways May the State Department of Education Further the Establishment of a System of Public High Schools?" President J. W. Abercrombie, of the University of Alabama, followed with a paper on "The Definite Ways the State Department of Education Could Develop a System of Public High Schools Once Established." Other interesting papers were read at the evening session.

Today's Telegraphic News.

The Gillette Case.

Herkimer, N. Y., Nov. 24.—Chester F. Gillette has undergone a secret inquiry into his sanity by three alienists. He has been pronounced perfectly sane. The fact that an investigation had been conducted did not become known until today. With the purpose of forestalling an insanity plea, as a defense to the charge of murdering his sweetheart, Grace Brown, for which Gillette is on trial, the prosecution decided to have the prisoner's mental faculties inquired into.

Gillette's father is a Dowieite, and is said to be a religious fanatic. He sacrificed all his furniture to the Zion City prophet. The prisoner's grandfather, Albertus Gillette, is said to have been mentally weak. Three alienists were brought quietly to Herkimer and taken to the jail. Gillette was told that he would have to undergo an examination and he readily consented.

Gillette was pitted with questions concerning his past life to test his power of memory and observation, after which the alienists applied the "needle" test. It was found the Gillette was equally sensitive on both sides of his body. He was blindfolded and a latrine dropped on his foot. Gillette was given other tests and after a long and severe examination the three alienists agreed that Gillette was mentally normal at the time the girl was drowned, as well as at the present time.

District Attorney Ward has kept the strictest silence regarding the investigation designed to combat every point that the State has made against him. Chester Gillette believes the story he will tell the jury will save him from the electric chair. He rehearses his story daily in his cell. The prisoner each evening goes carefully over the evidence given during the day's proceedings and constructs his story so as to overthrow the points the State had scored in its case. Gillette has prepared maps of the Adirondack region, where the tragedy took place. The movements and positions testified to by witnesses are carefully traced out on the maps by the prisoner, who has constructed small puppets of crushed paper to represent persons. These puppets he moves about on the map. Every morning before the deputy comes to take him to court Gillette rehearses certain parts of the story which he will tell the jury, so that he has become letter perfect.

Chester E. Gillette has an unknown female admirer. Each day the prisoner receives sweetly scented notes signed "Marguerite." No one knows who the mysterious woman is. Often she sends magazines and books to Gillette, and in one of her letters she hinted that powerful influence would be exerted to obtain his freedom. Sheriff Richards reads all of the missives before they are given to Gillette.

Witnesses were called when court opened today to testify as to the manner of the carrying of the body from the Glenmore Hotel to the Big Moose station. The defense hoped to show that the abrasions on the girl's head were caused by being bounced over the heavy roads in a wagon without springs.

John Denit, the driver of the wagon, testified that the wagon had six springs and the road was in good condition. Sheriff Richards testified today that he found Gillette's tennis racket in the woods near the road which Gillette traveled to Eagle Bay. Richards found the racket half covered with dirt and moss. The web net of the racket was sprung and the sides of the bow split.

Court adjourned with the conclusion of Sheriff Richards at noon, until Monday morning.

Verdict in the Caruso Case.

Naples, Nov. 24.—The verdict of the New York police court finding Caruso, the famous tenor, guilty of annoying women, in the Central Park monkey house, has had a bad echo here where Signora Caruso, wife of the singer, has been prostrated by the news. A cable message from Caruso saying he will appeal from the decision and expressing conviction that he will get justice in a higher court, is the only bit of comfort the woman has received. Signora Caruso says her husband is the victim of an infamous plot. Caruso loves her passionately, she insists, and could not be guilty of the acts charged against him. Opinion generally throughout Italy condemns the verdict. No one here believes Caruso is guilty, as his reputation is irrefragable, notwithstanding the fact that he is constantly pestered with love notes from feminine admirers.

London, Nov. 24.—General condemnation of the verdict finding Enrico Caruso guilty of annoying women in the Central Park monkey house in New York, is voiced by the London newspapers.

Caruso's hearing is described as ridiculous from a British standpoint. The Star in commenting on the case says: "The method under which the case was conducted was a disgrace to a court of justice. Caruso must have imagined it a comic opera and not a police court. It is not merely the manner of the trial that shocks British sense of judicial propriety but the fact that the police failed to produce the woman alleged to have made the charge, which would have made a London magistrate hesitate to accept the uncorroborated evidence of the police."

"Caruso, whether innocent or guilty, did not have a fair trial. America should be ashamed of allowing justice to be degraded into buffoonery."

Caruso today is nearly ill as a result of the notoriety attendant upon his conviction yesterday and owing to the blasting of his hope of acquittal. He did not leave his apartment at the Savoy Hotel and denied himself to callers. The $10 fine assessed against the singer, was paid in Yorkville Police Court by F. W. Sperling, of his counsel, today, under protest. Mr. Sperling announced that steps would be taken immediately to have the case reviewed by the Court of General Sessions. While one of the counsels for Caruso was in the act of paying the ten dollar fine, another succeeded in having the tenor paroled in his custody until Monday, when the fine must be paid.

Southern Railway Arbitrators.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Judge George Gray, of Delaware, famed as the chairman of the anthracite coal strike commission, has been selected as umpire on the board of arbitration to settle the differences between the Southern Railway and its machinists. The railway company will be represented by Alfred P. Thom and the machinists by first vice-President Conlon of the International Association of Machinists. The arbitrators with their umpire, Judge Gray, will give immediate consideration to the case. The machinists have agreed to accept the award of the board. According to arrangements made
